The first of these is the fact that the population of the world is increasing at an alarming rate. This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the birth rate is still high in many parts of the world, and that the death rate has fallen significantly in many parts of the world. This has led to a rapid increase in the number of people living on the earth, and this in turn has led to a number of problems, including the depletion of natural resources, the spread of disease, and the creation of a global warming effect. These problems are all the result of the fact that the world is becoming more crowded, and this is a trend that is likely to continue for many years to come. It is therefore essential that we find ways to deal with these problems, and to ensure that the world is able to support the growing population in a sustainable way.
